

ANNUAL VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION DINNER

by Paul Hendrickson, Ward D3

The Volunteers had their annual recognition dinner. The evening's event included a dinner with gratitude to the many volunteers, who do so many different things, here at the hospital. Different people involved with coordinating which volunteer is most needed here and/or there, throughout LHH gave short speeches. Then, introduced by local celebrity and volunteer, Fred Lacosse, was the keynote speaker broadcaster, Barbara Rodgers, most recently of KPIX. She appeared before the one and only self-proclaimed, "Lounge Lizard," Bud E. Luv. Terry Lowry, a long-time media personality and supporter of LHH, provided her usual enthusiasm.

Barbara R., ended her speech with a wonderful quote, by Sherry Anderson, that sums up the volunteer experience, "Volunteers, don't get paid, NOT because they are WORTHLESS...but because they are PRICELESS."

Without our volunteers, we would have to re-think the whole idea of LHH.

Thank you, volunteers!
